ANEY-EASTON.

Mr. Ira T. Aney, a popular conductor on the Pacific Electric road, was married on Thursday evening of last week to Miss Sadie Easton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Easton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. Stutsman at Tropico. The young couple are spending their honeymoon at Catalina and will be at home Oct. 1.

NEW RESIDENCE OF L. A. MONROE.

In the selection of a home for description this week we have chosen that of L. A. Monroe on Louise and Doran, because of unique and original features incorporated in the several schemes of things, which will ultimately give to the home that "lived in" atmosphere so desirable, yet so elusive as to escape many home-makers entirely.

Crossing a wide verandah of cement one enters the living room to find directly opposite the door a wide French window, which will afford an enchanting vista when the patio is filled, as planned, with ferns and rose-vines and a lilly pond, besides the cement floor, an ideal spot for comfortable rockers and hammock. The living room is well-lighted with ornamental windows of leaded glass. The mantle breast is of cream pressed brick. As in all the rooms, a high paneled wainscot occupies most of the walls, surmounted with a landscape decoration that gives the perspective not otherwise obtainable. A broad archway opens at the south end into a dining room of cheerful aspect. Above the wainscoting here hang festoons of purple grapes on a dull gold ground. A feature is the broad built-in buffet, with shelves enclosed behind leaded glass. Below the shelf depth allows easy accommodation for cut glass and silver, and backed by paneled mirrors (one of which opens to the kitchen) suggests a pretty place for flowers in case of need for special decoration. The dominant structural feature is a deep recessed window seat beneath a row of casement windows.

The north end of the living room opens into two sunny bedrooms finished each in white enamel, the west room with a wall treatment of pink, the east room in pale blue. Long casement windows give to these rooms an artistic finish. Connecting the rooms are roomy closets and a large bathroom, the tub for convenience and sanitation in the middle of the room. The wall is covered with sanitas, which sheds dust and germs and can be cleaned like a tiled surface. The pattern is an old Dutch design in delft.

The kitchen equipment is quite complete and gives the impression of having been built for comfort and convenience. Ample cupboard room is afforded and appliances are up-to-date. Every room is noticeably bright and cheery and in them the coveted "home-atmosphere" certainly abides.

LOMITA PARK ITEMS.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Reed, parents of Mrs. George Caruthers, of Chestnut street, who spent five months here last winter, expect to again winter in Glendale and to arrive here shortly, according to a postal card received from him at his summer home in Atlantic City, N. J. It is reported that Mr. Reed will purchase a winter home here. For many years he has spent his winters in Florida, until last winter, when the beauties of Glendale and the San Fernando Valley interested him.

Miss Mary Nichols of Lomita avenue entertained twenty-four friends Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Flossie Warth, who is about to leave for the East. The house was beautifully decorated with red roses and ferns. The evening was delightfully spent with music and games. Miss Warth sang a number of songs, and duets were played by Miss Clara Haeg and Miss Nichols and a recitation by Miss Annie Olives, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. A. W. Randolph and Miss Florence Magowan received a telegram Wednesday morning last announcing the death of their brother, Alva Magowan, at Toledo, Iowa. Not having had previous knowledge of his illness, the sad news came as a severe shock.

Mrs. Hendershott and daughter, Frances, who have spent the summer visiting various points of interest in the north, returned on Tuesday to their home on Jackson street. Another daughter, Mrs. Berg, and Miss Gail Berg of Seattle accompanied them. Miss Gail expects to spend the winter with her relatives here.

The Rev. Thos. H. Leavitt spoke at Odd Fellows hall last Saturday evening to about a score of voters and a dozen ladies. His remarks seemed to be appreciated by a portion of the audience, but to the reporter they seemed about as barren of substance as anything in the shape of a public lecture that he was ever unfortunate enough to listen to.

John F. Wilde left Thursday evening last for Columbus, Ohio, where he will enter the State University of Ohio for a term of two years to complete a course in ceramic engineering and the ceramic art in its completeness. He has been studying and practicing on this line of work under his father, Mr. F. H. Wilde, superintendent of the Tropico Art Tile works.

Mrs. Thomas is for a few days the guest of Miss Rachel Sherer. Her home is in Highland Park.

Mrs. M. O. Ryan entertained at noon on Tuesday with a charming luncheon of several courses. A handsome centerpiece was formed of ox-eyed daisies. Room decorations were scarlet geraniums and quantities of dusty miller. Places were laid for eight. Other guests were entertained during the afternoon. On Thursday evening the same hospitable hostess entertained Miss Cora Hickman and Mr. G. B. Hickman at dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker spent Saturday and Sunday in Walnut as the guests of Mr. M. A. St. Clair, a brother of Mrs. Parker. While gone they attended the big barbecue of the Fruit Growers' Association when a great feast was served in huge cement-floored basement of the packing house, where two hundred and sixty sat down to eat. A feature was long tables especially set and decorated for children with plenty of waiters to attend their wants.

Engineer Postle accompanied an automobile party through Glendale Monday last, showing them our improved streets. The party consisted of C. P. Dodge, manager of the Texas Oil company, Houston, Tex.; Mr. Louis T. Botts of the contracting firm of Stone-Webster company, El Paso, Tex., and Henrique Ornelas, Mexican consul at San Antonio, Tex., and representing especially the government of some of the Mexican states. All parties were particularly pleased with what they saw and took liberal notes to be applied in the cities of Mexico and Texas upon public street improvements.

The tent meetings held under the supervision of the Presbyterian pastors of Tropico and Glendale at the corner of Fifth and Orange streets have been very well attended and the attendance has grown. The preaching has been by the Rev. Geo. Butterfield of Highland Park and was of the most practical type. R. M. Robinson of Tropico has had charge of the singing since Tuesday evening and his work is very acceptable. The Sunday evening services have had the assistance of the Glendale Presbyterian choir and orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Earl Bishop Valentine. Last Sunday evening Master Julius Kranz rendered a very fine violin solo.

Owing to the illness of Prof. Robinson and other circumstances meetings will be discontinued after Sunday night temporarily.

GLENDALE'S ASSESSMENT AND AND TAX FOR 1908.

The tax roll footing for Glendale for the present year is $1,001,435 on realty and on unsecured personal property, $41,300. The tax rate has been fixed by the trustees at 90 cents. Of this sum 75 cents is for the general fund, 10 cents for the library, and 5 cents for the bond issue. As a rate of 85 cents has been collected on the personal property tax, there is still 5 cents due and payable on that account. The amount to be turned into the general tax fund on the above estimate will be $8,736.62.

Hollywood's tax rate for the current year is $1.40; that of Alhambra $1.02; Monrovia, $1.40.

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRIES.

While Glendale is fortunate in being near to Los Angeles, it must be admitted that this close association is not altogether a blessing. So many of our people are necessarily compelled to go daily into the larger city on business that there is lacking some of the spirit of local pride and interest which is manifested in places more remote from a large city. In such communities there is necessarily more of a spirit of dependence of one individual upon another and common interests binding all together. The people of a town which is not closely connected with a larger place that can be reached by a half hour's ride, are dependent upon themselves very largely both in a business and a social way. The result is that the people become better acquainted with one another, depend upon themselves for amusements and patronize very generally their home merchants. Some time we shall have something to say about that class of our citizens who use the town merely as a sleeping place, but at present our desire is to call attention to the fact that Glendale is at present supplied fairly well with a variety of stores in which one can find nearly everything that is required to administer to our material needs. These concerns, while fairly prosperous, are yet to some extent depending on that prosperous future which all believe to be just ahead when dividends will be declared to offset the shortage which the building up of any business necessitates.

The idea that the small store at home charges more for goods than the larger establishments in the near-by city, is largely erroneous. It is true that the patron of the "Special Sales" counter of a large department store can sometimes catch a bargain, but when a value is put on time and carfare is considered it is difficult to find wherein the economy consists. There is a large proportion of humbug about these special sales also. For instance one of the large stores in Los Angeles recently advertised its special "cut prices" on a number of articles in a certain line; the prices on some were below the average, but here and there were sandwiched in among the really cheap things, articles not so well known as being at a reduced price, when as a matter of fact they could be bought cheaper at a Glendale store, the price never having been as high as stated. The class of thoughtless people who will make a special trip to Los Angeles to save fifteen cents and spend twenty-five cents to do it, is fortunately not large, but it exists. While the small store is necessarily at some disadvantage on account of its limited stock on hand, it should be patronized liberally by the home people so that the time may be hastened when it will be justified in keeping a larger stock. These remarks apply not only to our stores, but to our professional people and to our mechanics, in fact the latter are not handicapped as are the tradesmen, for they undoubtedly possess skill and knowledge above the average of the larger city. Our people should with a proper spirit of loyalty endeavor to assist the people who do business among us. We do not insist upon the argument that they should do this at some extra cost to themselves, but that they should diligently endeavor to inform themselves as to whether they cannot really do it to their own advantage, and they should at least be willing to be at some slight inconvenience to do it for the general prosperity of the community. Get together men and brethern, let us help one another more!

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The second annual tennis tournament for the championship of the San Fernando valley opens today on the Glendale Country club court, the tournament to be continued next Saturday. There are twenty-five entries and possibly a few more to be added, as this is written a few hours before entries close. The event promises to be of great interest. Glendale has a way of winning in these various sport contests and it is probable that the rule will hold good this time.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH, EVANGELIST MEETINGS.

The evangelistic meetings conducted by J. W. Utter of the Christian church in the G. A. R. Hall on Glendale avenue, continue to grow in interest and attendance. Prof. Stout, a singing evangelist, of wonderful power in song, is leading the music. The meetings will continue during next week. Come and we will do you good.

THE NEW RAILROAD.

This matter did not come up before the trustees at their last meeting as was expected. It is understood that three or four signatures are still lacking to complete the right of way papers. It is to be hoped that this important matter is not to drag on indefinitely. Let the decks be cleared for action for another campaign, if this one is not to be pushed to a finish.

Both the High and public schools opened Monday with the largest enrollment this place has known, thirty and 198, respectively. Three local pupils who take senior work, are attending the Glendale High School. The increase in enrollment over the first day of last year is due to the fact that the entire valley is growing and the school is becoming more efficient each year. Both are in the same building until the new High School building is completed. The High School teachers are Prof. K. Kerr and Miss Louise Hart. The others are Prof. W. Mills, Misses Nellie Cartwright, Mattie Mortenson, Emma Perry and June Luttge.

GLENDALE, CAL., SEPTEMBER 19, 1908

REPUBLICAN TICKET

For President
WILLIAM H. TAFT

For Vice-President
JAMES S. SHERMAN

For Congressman
JAMES McLACHLAN

For Assemblyman
H. G. CATTELL

For Supervisor
R. W. PRIDHAM

For Judges
CURTIS D. WILBUR
CHARLES MONROE
FRANK R WILLIS
N. P. CONREY

The nomination of Gov. Hughes in New York to succeed himself, is another triumph of the Rooseveltian policy. It smacks somewhat of steam roller tactics, but the end justified the means.

The Republican majority in Maine was not "as wide as a barn door nor as deep as a well, but it sufficed." In supporting the resubmission of the question of prohibition to the people, the Democrats had a pretty good principle to stand on.

The deposits in California State savings banks amounted to $246,102,659, a per capita deposit of $123. While the total deposits amount to $200,700,860, or $501.00 per capita, which neither indicates poverty nor a loss of faith in banking institutions.

Old England may be slow about some things, but justice there does not travel with leaden feet. Ten members of the Mile End board of guardians, (supervisors) accused of bribery, were tried, sentenced and jailed in twenty days, and it was an unusually long trial!

PRIDHAM FOR SUPERVISOR.

Tony Schwam and R. W. Pridham; one of these two men will succeed Charles E. Patterson on the board of supervisors as the representative of this district. The former represents the element which has its principal habitat in the Eighth ward of Los Angeles, the saloons, the brothels, the gambling dens. The latter, with a record showing him to be opposed to all these things, represents the cleaner country precincts. The former will carry the Eighth ward by a large majority; the latter's strength is in the clean and progressive First ward and in the country. Never in the history of the county has it been of such vital importance as now, that the people should be represented on the board of supervisors by men whose affiliations insure their honest and patriotic performance of the duties of that responsible office. Not because Mr. Pridham is a Republican and Mr. Schwam a Democrat, should the voters prefer the former, but for the far more weighty reason that he stands undoubtedly for the very best that there is in public and private life.

AN EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION.

Mr. Bryan in his Labor Day speech at Chicago said: "One of the great problems of today is to secure an equitable distribution of the proceeds of toil." This is another of those half truths which Mr. Bryan and many others give frequent utterance to, with the evident idea that they are the expression of deep wisdom. It is a part of the Socialistic premise upon which a great structure of theory rests, which declares that a certain class of workers do not get enough wages, have not enough leisure, not enough of any of the desirable things of life. The word "enough" is purely relative and conveys different meanings to different minds. Opinions differ and will differ until the end of time as to what constitutes "enough" of anything. The employer and employe never can in the nature of things agree absolutely upon the matter as long as selfishness rules in the world, employers will want to keep wages down and employees be equally insistent upon keeping them up. Mr. Bryan is right in saying that this is a great problem, but if he or any other man thinks himself capable of solving it by fixing the proportion that is exactly equitable, he writes himself down as an egotist whom it would be base flattery to call a demagogue.

THE VACANCY IN THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

The resignation of Mr. Wilmot Parcher from his place on the board of trustees, which he has so ably filled for nearly three years, is greatly to be regretted. It will be difficult to find any one so well qualified in every way to fill the position of chairman of the board. While we have a number of good men to choose from we doubt if we succeed in securing one who will succeed so well in giving satisfaction to all classes and sections of our young city. Mr. Parcher took an interest in the work and devoted to it more time and energy than can be expected of the average citizen, unless he can see some way of advancing his own particular and personal interests. It is appropriate in this connection to call attention to the fact that Glendale has been a municipality for about three years and there has not been one act of the board of trustees that has had a suspicion of scandal attached to it. Naturally the members of the board have been criticised, but the purity of their motives has not been questioned. This good record has been largely due to the fact that the office sought the men and not vice versa.

When men anxiously seek to obtain public offices to which no salary is attached, they are naturally objects of suspicion. Glendale has fortunately not been afflicted with office seekers. At this time we hope that the board of trustees will appoint to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Parcher's resignation, some man who will represent all classes and sections; some broad-minded citizen who does not seek the place. The NEWS will gladly support any man of this description, regardless of the particular section in which he may reside.

NATURE OF LIGHT.

III.

A little consideration will easily show that all forms of energy known on earth are derived from the sun. The energy being constantly radiated from our great primary has been estimated at 12,000 horse power for every square foot of his surface, and as he is a vast globe about 855,000 miles in diameter, the total radiation reaches astounding proportions. This has been going on for untold ages, and was certainly greater in the past than it is now. It is true only an infinitessimal portion of this reaches the earth, but this portion appears magnificent in comparison with any energy we are accustomed to consider. It has been calculated that the total energy received by the earth from the sun equals one horse power on every five feet square, for the illuminated side of the earth, pouring down constantly all over the earth, alike on land and sea. Imagine the surface of the earth dotted over with horses on every five feet square, and all working away at their full strength night and day, and some idea of the tremendous energy constantly supplied. It is an axiom of modern science that energy, like matter, is indestructable, and it only disappears in one form to be converted in another. Thus, part of the energy of solar radiation is expended in warming the surface of the earth; the layer of air at the surface is then warmed, expanded, thereby becoming lighter, consequently rising and giving place to that next above it, which in turn is similarly warmed and expanded. And so the process goes on; a current of air is established which being continued over large areas produces the phenomenon of wind. But the energy thus expended reappears in the motion of the wind. Without sunshine there would be no air currents, and the atmosphere would remain forever in a state of silent stagnation.

Another portion of solar energy is expended in evaporating vast quantities of water. As the greater part of the surface of the earth is covered by water this evaporation is always going on, and water is being constantly converted from the state of a liquid to that of an elastic fluid which mixes with the air. After a foggy night, on a bright sunshine morning, the vapor may be seen rising in faint clouds from any extended surface exposed to sunlight. The air will absorb this vapor of water in quantities varying with the temperature, when the mixture of air and vapor becomes cooled by any means the suspended moisture condenses into a vast number of exceedingly minute globules, and forms clouds. The clouds may be dissipated by a fresh access of sunshine, or continuing to condense, larger globules will be formed until precipitation will ensue in the form of rain which will descend to the earth. The quantities of water thus continually raised and let fall by the power of sunshine, all over the earth in this manner, are enormous. An inch of rain, which may fall in a single day, is about equal to 100 tons of water per acre, and in contemplating the labor of raising and distributing water in this liberal proportion over an extended area of country we can understand that the one-horse power to every five-foot square is none too much for the accomplishment of such a task. The surplus of rain finds its way into our watercourses, streams and rivers, whose energy is therefore only converted sunshine. To quote an eloquent writer in this connection, "When we stand by some mighty waterfall, such for example as Niagara, and are struck by the grand exhibition of power we see before us, we do not, perhaps, reflect that while it is through light that we are enabled to see what is going on, it is also from light that the energy is derived which we see in action."

In considering the various forms of energy displayed on the earth we find that all owe their origin to the sun, and we have yet to refer to the artificially produced energy of steam power which at first sight might seem to be exempt from solar origin. Closer investigation, however, reveals the fact that his artificial power is the result of the expansion of steam, which in its turn is the result of the combustion of either wood or coal. The wood is, as we have already seen, the product of vegetation, plus sunshine, without which it would have been impossible. The coal is the preserved remains of an extinct vegetation which flourished in the sunshine of the carboniferous era, many hundreds of thousands of years ago. Our electric energy is equally dependent on sunshine, for as we have no means of devloping it from the latent stores all around us, we are compelled to use the waterfall or steam power to drive our turbines. We may fittingly cite, in conclusion, the words of Dr. Dorman Steele, in his delightful work on chemistry:

"The sun warms, enlivens and animates the earth. In the laboratory of the leaf he produces the most wonderful chemial changes. We see his handiwork in the building of the forest, the carpeting of the meadow, the tinting of the rose. On the ladder of the sunbeam water climbs to the sky, and falls again as rain. The very thunder of Niagara is but the sudden unbending of the spring that was first coiled by the sun in the evaporation from the ocean. Up to the sun, then, we trace all the hidden manifestations of power. Yet the force that produces such intricate and wide-extended changes is only one twenty-three hundred millionth part of the mighty tide that flows in every direction from this great central orb. But what is our sun itself, save a twinkling star, beside great suns like Sirius, and Regulus and Procyon, whose brilliancy in the far-off regions of space drowns our little sun as the dazzling light of day does the smouldering blaze of some wandering hunter!"

PROHIBITION MEETING.

Another meeting of the Prohibition League was held last Monday evening at the old city hall. Committee on public meetings reported in favor of a meeting on the 25th of this month. A good speaker can be secured, and a fine quartet of singers. A motion was carried to give full power to the committee to arrange the same. Full details will be published next week. Every person who desires to hear a good entertainment on the 25th inst. will do well to bear it in mind and come.

The important part of the session of last Monday was the report of members on the speeches of Eugene W. Chafin, candidate for president of the Prohibitionists, held at Simpson's Auditorium in Los Angeles. All agreed that Mr. Chafin is an intelligent and able speaker. His arguments on the questions of the day were pointed and thorough. We claim there is no more capable candidate running for president than Mr. Chafin. He has won many doubtful votes over to the Prohibition party, and we believe our vote will be largely increased and it may be a victory for the purity of the home and the banishment of intoxicating beverages from our fair land.

No one need fear that this party has not a man nominated that is fully capable of performing all the duties incumbent upon a president of this republic, for the betterment of the conditions of all the people.

Come to our next meeting at the old city hall, Monday evening.

MISSIONARY TALK AT ART E'EVEN

In the interest of the missionary society of First Presbyterian church Mrs. Daniel Campbell acted as hostess at her beautiful foothill home Ard E'even on Tuesday afternoon introducing to the many friends and members present, Miss Banks, who lately returned from her three years' work in China.

Following quotations on current events in Japan and business matters rapidly disposed of, Miss Banks gave a thoroughly interesting talk, exhibiting also many curios, such as tiny shoes, idols, etc. A dainty luncheon followed and the event took on the nature of a very happy social affair. Transportation was furnished guests at the end of the car line above Casa Verdugo and many took advantage of the opportunity to become a guest at lovely Ard E'ven.

CHILD'S AVENUE AGAIN.

We understand that property owners from Third to Fifth streets, have expressed their willingness to give land for a street to be known as Childs avenue. This street if opened up will run north and south just west of the Grammar school on Fourth street, and should, of course, extend from the northern to the southern boundary of the city, or even further. It is greatly needed and it is only a question of time when it must be opened. At present there is the long stretch from Adams street to Verdugo road without any highway intervening, a condition which works a great detriment to that of the city and which should not long exist. We hope to see this improvement pushed through with all possible speed.

DEDICATION OF CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The new Catholic church just completed on the rear of their property on the north side of Lomita avenue (formerly Seventh street) east of Adams will be dedicated tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bishop Conaty of the diocese of Los Angeles and Monterey, will preach the sermon of the occasion.

For the present, low prices will prevail on cotton piece goods. It will pay yo to watch our everyday bargains

BUILDING NOTES.

Through the agency of John A. Eppinger, Mr. Charles Stothard has sold his home consisting of a cottage and a half-acre of land on Fourth street next the Grammar school, to Mr. Fred Fratag, at present residing at Edendale. The same agent has sold lot 20, block 35, on Isabel street near the corner of Second street to Refugio Duarte.

Coleman and Stewart are the contractors and have about completed a five-room bungalow with hardwood floors and all up-to-date conveniences, for Mr. McDougall on Burchett street west of Brand boulevard. One of the unique and attractive features of the house is the mantle composed of sand (cement) brick which is an artistic piece of work.

Mr. Harris is putting up a neat cottage on the corner of Burchett street and Brand boulevard which he will occupy as soon as completed. He is connected with the board of underwriters in Los Angeles, but has settled upon Glendale as the location for his home after trying other foothill towns.

Probably the greatest development in this section in the near future will be in the tract lying between Brand boulevard and Central avenue on both sides of Wollacott street. Mr. L. C. Brand offers lots in this tract for $300 on conditions that the purchaser put up a house costing at least $1500. Several parties have accepted this offer. Mr. Collins has the foundation laid for a large residence and plans are in the architect's hands for others, including homes for Messrs. Kirby and Kilgore and two others that are to be built by Mr. Brand for parties who will occupy them upon completion. This will mean the addition of five more families to Glendale's population at once.

Mrs. Sarah E. Shields has bought and will accupy with her daughter in a short time the house recently built by Charles G. Hezmalhalch on Fourth street nearly opposite the Grammar school.

Work on the new High School building began Tuesday morning. The contract calls for its completion in six months' time.

The Grammar school building on Sixth street is being pushed forward rapidly.

NOTICE.

School opens in the Glendale city district Monday, Sept. 28. All new pupils must register Saturday, Sept. 26. The principals will be at the Fourth street school building between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. for that purpose.

Second. That a cement curb be constructed along each side of the roadway of said Orange street from the South line of Fourth street to the North line of Fifth street and from the South line of Fifth street to the North line of Sixth street in accordance with the Specifications for the construction of cement curbs on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale, said Sepcifications being numbered 2, except that the top of the street face of all curbs shall be placed ten (10) feet from the property line instead of the distance from the property line provided for in said Specifications Number 2.
